

Light of Love

© 2013 Radha Sahar - for Charles

If I couldn't see you in the light of the moon
Or the glow of the stars in the milky way above
If I couldn't see you even in the brightest sun at noon
I would still see you ...

In the light of love, see you in the light of love
In the light of love, see you in the light of love

If you forget to brush your hair
Or you wear those funny shoes
If you don't understand my feelings
When the going's tough
When you leave your dirty clothes and stuff
Across the bathroom floor ... you're beautiful and I can only see you

In the light of love, see you in the light of love
In the light of love, see you in the light of love

Don't tend to see crazy me in an aura so bright
I go too far, don't go far enough
Can't seem to get the balance right
Then you come along with your great big heart
Embracing all that stuff
Thank you for seeing me in the light of love

When we cannot see each other
By the light of the moon
Or the glow of the stars in the milky way above
When we can't see each other
Even in the brightest sun at noon
I will still see you. You will still see me
We will be together

In the light of love, see you in the light of love
In the light of love, see you in the light of love
See you in the light of love
